Sealers Find Gas Pumps Awry

Cayuga County Sealer of Weights and Measures Richard T. King of Port Byron and Auburn was in Ithaca a part of last week, where he attended a meeting of the Central New York Sealers of Weights and Measures Association, combined with a lecture series and school conducted by the New York State Bureau, under the direction of Director Clement A. Baker.

Also present were State Inspectors Laurence Theisen, Fred J. Tucker and Vern Garrett. Speakers at the conference included Ithaca Mayor Ivan E. Cook, J. N. Good of Whippany, N. J., and Professor A. C. Dahlberg of the New York State College of Agriculture, Cornell University. About fifty sealers were present, Association President Paul Nedrow presiding.

Sealer King and State Inspector Tucker have for some time past been conducting tests of weighing and measuring devices in Cayuga County, and making investigations regarding the sale of commodities in this section.

The officials' report shows that some 500 tests were made and a breakdown of equipment test results indicate that more than 100 gasoline pump meters were pumping either over or under legal tolerance, the average being some 14 cubic inches over, and ten cubic inches over. Sealer King stated that a majority of pumps found in error were giving more fuel than necessary on each five gallon test.

Very few scales being used by merchants in the various towns tested by the sealers were found in error, and as with the gasoline and fuel oil equipment, all such devices have been repaired and were sealed as correct. The average scale error was under two ounces up to five pounds testing, although several were found to graduate to about six ounces when tested to full capacity.

Mr. King stated today that State Bureau officials compliment the merchants of Cayuga County for keeping weighing and measuring devices in good condition, and for the installation of many new and up to date units.

Champions Elect

The 4H Club of Champions elected new officers at its first meeting last week under the leadership of Mrs. Justin G. McGinn and Mrs. LaVerne Myers. The meeting was held at the McGinn Home with Edward M. Winchester, county agent, as guest.

The new officers are Joan Minde, president; Elaine Story, vice president; Ed Stoker, treasurer; Gary Gordon, secretary; Richard Gordon, news reporter; Ruth Dugan, song leader; Judy Hart, cheer leader; Priscilla Stoker, Kathy Kellogg, Ed Stoker, program committee.
