

Weekly News of Area Schools, Education

TEEN SCENE
Will Be Heard Daily
MON. - SAT.
7:35 - 9:00 p.m.
Your Host, Bob Paris
another Special Feature of WMBO 1340
on your dial

Make Martin's Your Headquarters for Glass Rings
Stop in and See
Our Large Selection of Mixed Earrings
and Charms
EAST TERMS

MARTIN'S JEWELERS
117 Genesee—Corner State

STEVENS
Men's and Boys'
Sweaters

- CARDIGANS
- PULLOVERS
- ALL SHADES
- LAMB'S WOOL
- ORLON

Priced From 99¢

JOHN STEVENS
Cor: State and 2nd Sts.

PRETTY PASTELS
Lemon, Lime,
Lilac

Skirts & Sweaters dyed to match to add a dash of magic to your holiday wardrobe.

SKIRTS
A-LINE MODIFIED
HIP HUGGER
Muted Pastels
Solid Colors
$10.00 - $15.00

SWEATERS
SHORT SLEEVE
LONG SLEEVE
ROUND NECK
TURTLE NECK
LACY DESIGNS
$4 to $6
$11.00 - $13.00

Shop Early for Xmas
Use Our Lay-away Plan COME TO
The Clothes Hut
125 Genesee St.
"Nothing but the Newest"

Carmel High Area Girl Tells of Summer In German Conservation

MOUNT CARMEL—The student body participated in the celebration of the First Friday folk Mass Nov. 4. Rev. Fidelis Kroon, O. Carm., was celebrant. The students were led by Rev. Dennis Cummings, O. Carm., who accompanied with guitar. The Rev. Kenneth McElligott, O. Carm., was celebrant.

Members of the Glee Club who participated were Kathy Maloney, Nancy Orioli, Dave Carbonaro, Diane Alongi, Jane Walsh and Richard Kulakowski. Dick Rusinko read the proper of the Mass. The entrance hymn, "Enter, Rejoice and Come In" was accompanied by Sam Gianrecco. Jim Reilly and Louis Murillo on electric guitars, who offered with guitar, my Jane Walsh, "Hear Our Prayers." Other hymns included, "Hear Me, I'm Calling" and "Clad Your Hands."

FOLK MASS SINGERS—Mount Carmel students take part in the school's First Friday folk Mass Nov. 4. Left to right they are Dave Carbonaro, Kathy Maloney, Nancy Orioli, Diane Alongi, Dick Kulakowski, Jane Walsh.

Senior Chorus Trio Picked To Sing in All-State Group

CENTRAL HIGH—Three students will represent Auburn Nov. 18, 19 in the chorus of the 1966 All-State Sectional Festival at Fayetteville-Manlius Central School Nov. 18 and 19. The chorus will be directed by Mr. Andrew Householder, director of the highly rated Huntington High School Choir.

The Festival, sponsored by the New York State School Music Association, will be held in Fayetteville-Manlius Central School Nov. 18 and 19. The chorus will be directed by Mr. Andrew Householder, director of the highly rated Huntington High School Choir.

Final selections were made by Mr. Alan A. Allen, chairman of the festival. The local directors' decisions were based on voice, skill in music reading and leadership abilities. Mrs. Ruth E. Nussey is choir director.

Sue Geary, 17, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald E. Geary of 19 Crescent Ave. Besides being a member of the chorus she is also one of the Harmonettes and will sing soprano at the festival. She is a senior and a member of H-Y, Senior Honor Society, Journalism Club, and is vice-president of the Future Teachers. She has been named co-editor of the 1967 yearbook, The Mercury.

Sue's interests include art and music. She is taking an academic course and plans to be a teacher. Jim, 18, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Beckwith of RD 3, Burdett Point. He is president of the Pep Council and Inter-Pep Council and a member of the Letterman's Club and H-Y. Jim is a member of a folk singing group by singing baritone in the school choir. He is taking a combined business and academic course.

John, 16, is the son of Mrs. Fred Osterhout of 114 Mary St. He is a junior and a member of the Square Roots Club and the Senior Honor Society. His interests include sports, music, and religion.

He is leader of the bass section of the school choir, is active in Second Baptist Church Choir. He is taking an academic course.

Parents Confer With Teachers

MOUNT CARMEL—Parent-teacher nights were Nov. 7 and 8 Monday was for A to L parents and the M to Z parents came Tuesday.

Conferences enabled parents and teachers to meet and discuss the progress of individual students.

About three-fourths of the students' parents attended. New members of the faculty said they found the conferences especially helpful since it gave them an opportunity to meet the parents and exchange ideas with them. After the last conference on Tuesday, members of the faculty said they had found the conferences worthwhile and profitable.

Room Visitation
Parents of Oswego Elementary School children will see classroom exhibits and talk with teachers on Wednesday, Nov. 16, at a room visitation night from 7 to 9 p.m. PTA Mothers will serve coffee in the school cafeteria at 7:45 p.m.

A Cayuga girl got a first hand, grass roots look at the Germany of today during the summer when she lived and worked in northern Germany through the American Field Service exchange program.

Miss Barbara Redfield, 17, daughter of Mrs. Marion Redfield of Cayuga, a senior at Union Springs Central School, saw Germany "from the ground up" as she worked with her AES brothers and sisters in Conservation camps near Flensburg in northern Germany and Hamburg.

Miss Redfield, displaying a calm assurance halving her age, said this week she was the first AFS student to participate in such a work program, and added that she found out about the Conservation program 24 hours before starting in it.

"My family lived in Hamburg, but I spent six weeks with my two brothers and two sisters in conservation camps working to preserve the forests and protect the wildlife," she said. "I guess I was chosen for the Conservation program because of my Scouting and camping background and my three years of German."

Miss Redfield, president of the senior class at USCS, has been camping since the fifth grade. In 1965, she attended the Senior Girl Scout Roundup in Idaho and took a canoe trip on the Erie Canal in 1964. She is currently president of Senior Girl Scout Troop 407 in Cayuga.

"We left by boat on June 20 and landed in Rotterdam July 1," she said, commenting that she returned to the United States Aug. 31 after spending three days in Bremen, Germany with the other 117 AFSers in Germany for the summer.

She noted that the conservation camps, manned by "Waldjugend," or youth of the forest, are operated on a volunteer basis, with students working from 7 a.m. to 1 p.m. daily. She explained that there are no national parks, but each city has a forest somewhere within the city itself or on the outskirts because the German people "are very concerned with preserving their forests and wildlife."

Miss Redfield said the students, from 13 to about 18, slept in tents. "Each forest has dirt roads through it, and our job was to put fertilizer on the young trees, cut down diseased at least once a day.

Miss Redfield, stating that her AFS brothers and sisters go to camp each summer, said the students in Germany attend school half a day so there are many activities out of school.

"My AFS father was a patent engineer and my mother didn't work," she continued. "My brothers were 14 and 18 and my sisters, 16 and 12."

Barbara, who never spoke English except with one relative, said "I carried a dictionary around with me for the first few weeks."

Concerning customs and practices in Germany, Miss Redfield said most of the families live in row houses or apartments because land is so expensive. She added that few families own cars, but "there is a vast subway bus and train network, and buses go through all villages at least once a day.

"It costs about $70 for a license and all persons have to go to driving school," she continued, noting that because students have half days of school, there are no driver education courses offered. "Also, gas is about twice as expensive as it is here."

Miss Redfield, who is a member of the USCS Honor Society, editor of the school paper, a participant in girls' intramurals and a member of the Cayuga Methodist Youth Fellowship, said the students are not as mature as students of the same age in America because they have no coed schools," she stated.

"Germans can drink and smoke when they're 16, which seems to produce a better attitude toward drinking and smoking than we have here," she continued. "They don't usually go to dances until they're 18 and they go out more in groups than on single dates."

With a quick smile, she added that students rarely wear slacks, and "shorts are worn only to the beach, but when they wear shorts, they wear short shorts. Also, they wear pant suits or dressy slacks, not jeans."

Regarding food, Miss Redfield said Germans eat their big meal at noon and have four meals a day: breakfast, brunch at about 10 a.m., lunch, and supper around 6 or 7 p.m. She added: "They eat a lot of bread and potatoes."

"My mother took me sight-seeing in Berlin for three days and we stayed with relatives," she said. "I noticed that Berlin is more modern than the rest of Germany and its more westernized due to the troop occupation."

She added that she spent one and one-half weeks in Denmark on a farm on the Baltic Sea, near Sonderburg in Southern Denmark, and "we went swimming there every day although the jellyfish were a problem."

Miss Redfield, who returned to Cayuga in August, has spoken to and shown her slides to the Cayuga MYF and has a speaking schedule including the Union Springs Lions Club in December, the PTO in May, USCS and her Scout troop.

"I hope to enter pre-med school at Cornell University of Albany State College in the fall," Miss Redfield said.

Summing up her summer in Germany and the AFS program, she concluded: "I think it's a very worthwhile program and I hope to go back to Germany to study someday."

School Menus
Auburn public school cafeteria menus next week will be: Monday—beef stew on biscuit, lettuce salad, bread baked apple; Tuesday—pizza, burgers on bun, spinach, applesauce, jelly; Wednesday—soup, sandwich, choice, corn, chocolate cake; Thursday—cheeseburgers, carrots, potato chips, fruit; Friday—fish fry, harvard beets, macaroni salad, upside down cake.

Connie Reisman CNY Top Archer

CATO—Connie Reisman, a junior at Cato-Meridian Central School, is one of the top archers in Central New York. She won the Central New York State Archery Association championship at West Canada Valley, Oct. 22.

Connie was the high individual scorer in Class B competition in the 1965 and 1966 meets. She has scored many high rounds in local competition this fall and on the last day of practice she shot a perfect score at 20 yards (30 arrows, 30 bullseyes). Connie is the second Cato-Meridian archer to achieve this honor. Joyce Warner, the outstanding archer of the 1965-66 team, accomplished this feat in the National Archery Association spring meet.

Connie shoots a 20-pound custom bear bow and a set of 26-inch arrows. She uses a sight, devised by her coach, Miss Mary Alice Dady, consisting of a piece of Scotch tape and a dressmaker's pin.

FOOTBALL QUEEN—Kathleen Flackney, Central High senior, is crowned football queen at the Thursday night Block "A" dance at Central. Crowning her is Nancy Walsh, last year's queen.

Weedsport Honor Society Announces New Members

WEEDSPORT—Students elected to the Weedsport Chapter of the National Honor Society were named at a special honors assembly by means of a tape recording in the high school auditorium Nov. 4.

Mr. Kenneth Chapman, supervising principal, addressed the assembly by means of a tape recording, another commitment making it impossible for him to be present.

Five seniors received letters of commendation for high scores in the National Merit Scholarship exam. Twenty-two seniors and 18 juniors were recognized for scoring 90 or above in the National Educational Development tests.

Mr. Chapman said in part: "The basic reason all of you students are in school is to get an academic education. Although there are many other factors in your physical, mental, emotional and, yes, even spiritual makeup, that should be developed in school, perhaps the number one is the academic."

"Each of us has our own capacity to perform in some area better than in others. It is my belief that everyone has some field in which he or she has considerable ability. My great concern is that many of us waste our God-given gifts, whether those gifts be the ability to learn, lead, to follow, to make friends, to use our hands in some specific manner, to preach—whatever they might be. We owe it to ourselves and to the people with whom we come in contact to develop to our maximum."

"We are here this afternoon to honor those who have reached a certain plateau in academic achievement. Some have had to work really hard to get here. Others, because of their greater ability, have arrived without as much effort. I am sure there are some of you not being honored today who have worked as hard as some of those being honored. In your heart you know who you are. I commend you. There are many others of you I am sure who should be up here being honored, but are not because you have not applied yourselves. In your heart you know who you are. To you I say, 'For shame!'"

Highlight of the program was announcement of the election of members to the Weedsport Chapter of the National Honor Society. Mrs. Louis Compton, sponsor of the Weedsport Chapter, addressed the student body on the importance of school spirit. She urged student cooperation and support for all school endeavors from scholarship through sports and school dances. She said that students are elected to the National Honor Society who have personality and strong character as supplements to high high academic average.

Mrs. Patricia Hyland, sponsor of the Junior High Chapter at Weedsport, read the names of Junior High students who had been elected:

Ninth grade—Deborah Jane Fairhurst, William Henry Soules, Kathleen Ann Witek, William Erhard Kohn, Henry Joseph Brodmecki.

Eighth grade—Marie Laurence Lathrop, Brad Stuart-Talbot, Sarah Elizabeth Sholes.

Mrs. Compton read the names of senior high school students elected to the society:

Seniors—Stuart Milton Abbott, Nancy Irene Perry, Judy Ann Pantani, Esther Sutherland, Smith, Terri Elizabeth Robinson, Peter Alan Gorton, Marguerite Thomas, Pauline Ann Faneck, Michael John Brewster, Susan Ruth Bobbett, Kathryn Arne Chambers, Peter Bulanda Babiarz, John Patrick Daly, Jack Lee VanHoover, Meafin Afewerq and Lena Nilsson, American Field Service exchange student.

Juniors—Elaine Grace Jordan, John Harold Dickinson, Margaret Alice Keel, Deborah Jean Bibbens, Cynthia Sue Hutton, Kathleen Marie Rice, Diane Elizabeth Cunningham.

Sophomores—Lynda Ann Barber, Beth Amy Carlson, William Clarence Colby, Timothy John Cowell, Paul Steven Babiarz.

Honor letters were presented to students in the senior and sophomore classes cited for participation in extra-curricular activities.

Each of us has our own capacity to perform in some area better than in others. It is my belief that everyone has some field in which he or she has considerable ability. My great concern is that many of us waste our God-given gifts, whether those gifts be the ability to learn, lead, to follow, to make friends, to use our hands in some specific manner, to preach—whatever they might be. We owe it to ourselves and to the people with whom we come in contact to develop to our maximum."

"We are here this afternoon to honor those who have reached a certain plateau in academic achievement. Some have had to work really hard to get here. Others, because of their greater ability, have arrived without as much effort. I am sure there are some of you not being honored today who have worked as hard as some of those being honored. In your heart you know who you are. I commend you. There are many others of you I am sure who should be up here being honored, but are not because you have not applied yourselves. In your heart you know who you are. To you I say, 'For shame!'"

Central Girls, Candy Strippers, Help at Auburn Memorial Hospital
CENTRAL HIGH—In 1955 the Junior Auxiliary was formed at Auburn Memorial Hospital. Since that time well over 1,000 girls have joined, among them many Central High girls. To be a member one must be 14 years of age or in the ninth grade and have a 75 per cent average in school. Permission is required from parents.

The purpose of the Junior Auxiliary is to render community service, help people, and foster individual qualities of initiative, poise, tact and responsibility.

There are many jobs for members to do. They may work as a waitress in the snack bar, deliver papers, deliver flowers, take care of a bedside cart, a library cart, or work on the floors. They serve tray patients, fold linen and deliver mail, help patients with menus and run errands.

The regulation uniform is a white blouse and a red and white striped pinafore. Because of bright uniforms they are called "Candy Strippers."

Central High students who are Candy Strippers are Sandra Brooks, who works with the bedside cart; Anne Bunker and Joyce De in the snack bar; Lois Fronczek, flowers; Elizabeth Guszcza, papers and flowers.

Peggy Hodge works on Extended Care facilities, delivers papers and helps the diet office on Sunday.

Marcia Mills works in the snack bar; Deborah Gauthier delivers flowers and papers; Christine Schultz works on children's ward and Susan Zimmer helps on third floor.

Carmel Singers' Groups Formed After Try-Outs

MOUNT CARMEL—The library was the scene of folk singing try-outs Nov. 3. Chosen as Carmel Singers were seniors David Carbonaro, Ronald Cook, Richard Kulakowski, Steve Leach, John Maroon, Frank Nett, Dick Rusinko, Diane Alongi, Bryan Green, Peggy Curry, Margie Harmon, Lois Karpiak, Georgia McDermott, Molly O'Neill, Nancy Orioli, and Jane Walsh.

Juniors: Jud Heinz, Ted Freeman, Jim Malvasio, Don McConnell, Tony Piccolo, Joe Shaw, Paula Ferrea, Debby Muldoon, Marianne Emmi and Marianne Musick.

Sophomores: Peter Abbott, John Dean, Jim Reilly, Mark Geberin, Pamela Nolan, Martha Scanlon and Marcia Stephens.

Freshmen: Louis Murillo, Debbie Canale, Mary Driscoll, Patty Murphy and Hilary Shaw.

A chorus was formed consisting of Martin Bove, Paul Campbell, Paul Egan, Gary Elser, John Harding, Alan Harmon, John Reedy, Gary Salvage, Leo Stryhann, William Leonard, Phil Maroon, William Merlach, Bob Spadafora, Lawrence Hrynyk, Louis Le Boeuf, Bob Baraczek and Carl Seltzer.

Betsy Angyal, Sue Denman, Mary Diella, Donna D'Urso, Nancy Herring, Mary Ann Kolo, Mary Payne, Starlet Shaw, Peggy Stawick, Aurelle Walton, Kim Walsh and Barbara Calkins, Cathy Crawford, Molly Grehan, Eileen De Stefano, Kathleen Doyle, Jan Hayden, Linda Horning, Ann LaVallee, Terry Kahl, Lorri Medyn, Sandra Morabito, Linda Murphy, Kathy Paach, Margaret Picciano, Carol Sgoe, Deborah Steinbach, Janet Staubbe, Debbie Wall, Gail Wislowski, Casade Brooks, Ann Colletta.

Mary Conway, Louise D'Agostino, Loraine Donnelly, Kathy Evans, Joa Fantasia, Barbara Gurry, Bobbi Hoadley, Sue Lisano, Linda Michellow, Mary Ann Millilo, Barbara Myrlog, Sue O'Hara, Marianne Soles, Paulette Soars, Donna Seneca, Anne Strywick.

Sileen Tracer, Maureen Walsh, Bonnie Fabian, Carol Gristi, Anne Gleason, Sue Hemingway, Jill Issa, Karen Kulakowski, Joanne Mohan, Carol Pryhal, Nancy Ringwood, Becket Rusinko, Sandi Rybarczyk, Sheryl Sanford, Lorraine Soars, Sandra Smolak, Cheryl Vivasco, Patricia Whitling.

Rev. Kenneth McElligott, director of the Carmel Singers, is planning a spring variety show to open to the public. Rev. Dennis Cummings, Mrs. Trudy McKeon and Miss Sharon Duffy will assist.

C-M Senior Girls Lose to SCCS

CATO—Thirteen Cato-Meridian Central School senior girls were hosts to 14 girls from Southern Cayuga for their final high school hockey game. Southern Cayuga won 2-1.

C-M participants were Bonnie Townsend, captain; Carol Phelps, co-captain; Lynne Geary, Mary Beth Hall, Sharon Krause, Charlene Ingelston, Cathy Knight, Virginia Monell, Marge Webster, Sandy Trapp, Melanie Starkey, Joan Nesbit.

This was the last field hockey game for the seniors and one of the best. Mary Hall was the only girl to break through the Southern Cayuga defense and score the only goal for Cato. Coach Mary Alice Dady cited Carol Phelps and Bonnie Townsend as the outstanding Cato-Meridian players of the game.

As freshmen these girls defeated Union Springs 3-0. In their sophomore year, they won 5-0 crushing Moravia and as juniors they scored another victory by defeating King Ferry 2-0.

Milk for 1,000

Weedsport's UNICEF collection was boosted to $211.60 last week when Mrs. Anne Backman's first grade turned in their collection of $1.67; an amount sufficient to supply an additional 1,000 children with a glass of milk through the UNICEF program. Weedsport's total had been set at $200 by the UNICEF planning committee, consisting of eight Junior and Senior-High aged young people. The official drive, Oct. 30, netted $209.93 in a house-to-house solicitation of the village conducted by 80 young people. The first graders who also wanted to have a part in the fund took a collection among the mothers and this was forwarded to the UNICEF headquarters in New York City.

Advent Calendars
Advent Rings
Purple Candles
& THANKSGIVING CARDS
The Catholic and Novelty Shop
8 STATE ST.

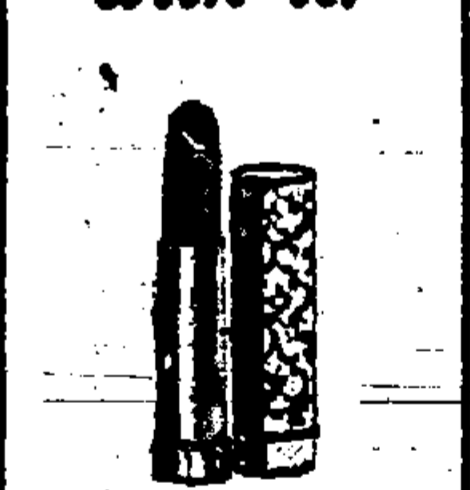

Better
Cleaning Means Longer Life
For Those Clothes
You Like

Majestic
DRY CLEANERS
32 GARDEN ST.
AL 2-2593

THE BIG STORE

Revlon is with it!

New Jet Age
Colors for the Go-Go Crowd!

- * Pussyfoot Pink
- * Swinging Pink
- * Plum Run
- * Super Natural
- * Orange Flip
- * Honeybee Pink
- * Bare Beige
- * Madly Mauve
- * Decous More!

1.15 to 1.50
Swing into fashion brightness with the right lipstick colors for the Jet Set! The newest in cream, frosted, or frosted translucent lipsticks, in pretty cases styled by world famous "Revlon." Nail enamels to match. $1.75.

The BIG STORE