Daniel Morocco

June Buffton

East Spotlights Buffton, Morocco

EAST HIGH — The two seniors to be picked up by the Spotlight this week are June Buffton and Daniel Morocco.

June Buffton, 17, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Buffton of 245 Oswego Rd. Her school activities include the Arrow Staff, Future Teachers, the crew of "Arsenic and Old Lace," and a member of the cast for "The Barretts of Wimpole Street." She went to Colombia, South America, as an exchange student and won a regents scholarship and a letter of commendation.

Outside of school she is in the Junior Legion of Mary at Sacred Heart Church and leader of the Junior Great Books Discussion Program. Her hobbies include reading, sewing, and swimming. She plans to attend Nazareth College of Rochester and study English and Education.

Daniel Morocco is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Morocco of 203 North Marjorie. He was the crew for "Arsenic and Old Lace." He is in the International and on the decoration committee for the Mardi Gras. His hobbies include playing the guitar, shooting pool and swimming. He plans to attend UNC and take a liberal arts course.

Science Compares Noises

WEST HIGH — The physics department of West High School is making a visual comparison of the waveforms of noise and musical sounds. The experiment will be displayed at the Centennial Exhibit, entitled "Inside West," which will take place at the West High gymnasium May 11.

The experiment was designed and built by William Yoensky, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl S. Yoensky of Dunning Avenue Road. He explained his schematic drawing in Mrs. Francis DeFuria's physics class. William has worked with radio and electronics as a hobby for the past 10 years. He is planning to attend UNC and continue his studies later in electrical engineering.

A microphone will pick up noise in the gymnasium which will be amplified and fed into an oscilloscope. An audiosignal generator will be set up to provide musical sounds within and beyond the human hearing range. The oscilloscope will display one wave, either noise or music and the two waves may be superimposed to show the difference between them. The deal waveform for the human ear is a pure sine wave. It is a smooth and even waveform. On the other hand, noise is an irregular waveform.

Bishop Fulton J. Sheen Visits Mount Carmel

MOUNT CARMEL — Most Rev. Fulton J. Sheen paid a visit to Mount Carmel on Monday, and the entire student body and faculty assembled in the gym to hear him speak.

He spoke about the potential goodness in everyone, and the result of finding it and not finding it. He told of a young stewardess he met on a plane. After talking to her for a few minutes about potential he gave her a suggestion. Two years later he met her once again and she reminded him of what he had told her, and said she was willing to do whatever he wanted her to do for God. He told her he wanted her to work in a leper colony in Viet Nam, and she is still there today.

Bishop Sheen also told a story of three boys expelled from school for fighting, keeping revolutionary material, and drawing in a geography book. If only the teachers had known the great potential they were sending away, Bishop Sheen said, "because these boys grew up and changed the course of history. They were Josef Stalin, Adolf Hitler and Benito Mussolini."

The Bishop used many more true-to-life experiences to illustrate his talk. After his talk he visited the school classrooms.

He was presented with an oil painting of himself done by an inmate of Auburn Prison. It had been purchased for him by the Carmel students.

Carmel Gym Bedecked For Formal

MOUNT CARMEL — A bit of the Far East came to Mount Carmel gym when the sophomore class presented the "Gardens of Shalimar." This semi-formal dance was held Friday, April 21.

The stage was a terrace with tables. A three-tier fountain was the centerpiece of the gym, with the king and queen's throne behind it. The throne were on an elevated platform with a flowered background. Crepe streamers were extended from a revolving ball to all sections of the gym. On the bleachers were paintings of trees and gardens as would be seen in Shalimar.

The main showcase included an etching of the Taj Mahal with a miniature scale model of the king and queen's thron.

Under the direction of Joe DiMatteo and Marty Scanlon, decoration committee heads, the plans for the prom were prepared.

Class officers also took over some of the responsibility. The officers are: President, James Reilly; vice president, Betty Scollan; secretary, Cassie Brooks; treasurer, Bob Guido.

Streamers, entrance ways, wall paintings, and hanging baskets were the result of many long hours of class cooperation and team work. On Wednesday and Thursday nights the gym was decorated.

The climax of the evening was the crowning of the king and queen. Nominees were for king: Bob Gelsi, Mike Miallo, Jim Reilly and Paul Cobanaro; for queen: Sue E. O'Hara, Ellen Tracy, Kathy Schell, and Barb Myrlog. The king and queen nominees were Bob Gelsi and Ellen Tracy.

Music from 8 to 11 was provided by the "Prison City Five" from Auburn. Refreshments were punch and cookies.

Central High School Names Turner, Lupien Students of Week

CENTRAL HIGH — Velma Jean Turner and William Lupien are students of the week.

Velma Jean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth L. Turner of 52 Locust St., is interested in majoring in mathematics and sciences at college. She is an honor student and was the winner of a Christopher Columbus Commemorative scholarship and an alternate for the New York State Regents' scholarship. Junior Editors Quiz on MYTHOLOGY

QUESTION: Why did the Greeks invent mythical gods and goddesses?

ANSWER: In the ancient days, people did not have the knowledge about the world and the solar system which we have today. Yet the men and women of past times were curious and liked to ask questions, just as you Junior Editor folks do. In the picture, a Greek boy puts a difficult question to his father. No one knew the real answer then, which was, that it is the motion of the earth around the sun which makes the sun appear to move. Not knowing this, the Greeks made up an imaginary explanation. The sun, they said, was really a god, whom they called Apollo; he moved because he was driving a chariot drawn by two beautiful white horses. Many other gods and goddesses were invented in the same way—to give some explanation for things people didn't understand. Gradually, the Greeks invented a whole group of deities who were supposed to live on Mount Olympus. Zeus was the king; there were Jupiter, Mars, Venus, many more. Through stories and legends, the gods began to seem real; people thought they could get their help and so built temples and made sacrifices.

Astronomy Unit

CENTRAL HIGH — Mr. Michael Oropolo's earth science classes at Central High have been studying a unit on astronomy. Mr. Oropolo instructed the students on location and identification of planets, stars and constellations during class and lab periods.

Math Club Meets

CENTRAL HIGH — The Square Roots Math Club met April 21. Rick Stapleton gave a talk on codes and secret writings. He gave examples of three progressively different codes and explained how to break them. The next meeting will be May 5.

Girls Win Bowl

CENTRAL HIGH — Junior Honor Society held a "College Bowl" April 19 — boys versus girls. Questions were on science, social studies, English, current events and spelling. The girls won by a small margin. The committee consisted of Dana Martino, Charles Myrlog, Ann Barber, Wendy Fredendall and Richard Migliore.

Class Games Involve Teams During 7th Bell

CENTRAL HIGH — For the last few Fridays at Central High, there have been class basketball games. They have been during seventh bells and an admission of 10 cents per person was charged.

The first week the game was between the freshman and sophomore teams. The sophomore boys were victorious. The following week the juniors beat the seniors.

Last Friday the championship game between the sophomore and junior teams was played. The juniors won after a rough game, 23 to 25.

The teams consisted of: Freshmen — Dan Donovan, Dana Martino, Dave Kulakowski, George Cuthebert, Glenn Fletcher, David Ball, Dave Sergeant, John Murdock.
