

Junior Girl Scouts of Troop 452 of St. Mary's School created a population explosion of Raggedy Ann dolls as part of a project to earn their "toymaker" badges. The 15-inch handmade dolls were presented to the children at Camp Columbus Wednesday. One condition of earning the "toymaker" badge is that the toys be given to others. Shown

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Avoid seeing persons only in idealistic light. Be realistic, practical in evaluating character and potential. Some individuals simply cannot live up to your standards. Know it — plan accordingly.
PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Assume responsibility. Outline policy. Sign goal. Give attention to mate, partner. Check legal area. Avoid making demands. Be aware of strength of competition. Wait for others to commit themselves.
IF SATURDAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you are sensitive, articulate, capable of expressing yourself in dramatic manner. December should be one of your most significant months of 1972. You will have many dealings with Gemini and Virgo.

Dairy Princess receives training for her new job

Miss Ann Redmond of Scipio Center, Cayuga County Dairy Princess attended the annual Dairy Princess Seminar July 5 and 6 at the Shearson Motor Inn in Syracuse. Also representing Cayuga County at the conference were Miss Barbara DeWaine of Cato, Dairy Princess alternate and Mrs. Dollie Weller of Weedsport, booking chairman for the Dairy Princess program in Cayuga County.
 Miss Christine Redmond, the 1971-72 Dairy Princess, participated in the conference Thursday by demonstrating the puppet show she used for school programs during the past year.
 The purpose of the seminar, arranged by Mrs. Donna Yousy, state committee chairman, was to provide the county Dairy Princesses with information about the dairy industry. They will be able to use this information when speaking to consumer groups and answering questions throughout the year.
 Workshops on the first day of the conference included cosmetology, a charm school session, a booking chairman meeting and a talk about the American Dairy Association and Dairy Council presented by Mrs. Harriet Gavenda, Dairy Council executive director of Central New York.
 On the second day of the seminar several of last year's county Dairy Princesses from around the state, demonstrated different techniques they employed during the past year. They showed what kinds of programs they used when talking to school children, at supermarkets and on radio and television. Ann and Barb said they found the ideas shown at this part of the seminar proved to be very helpful.
 Anyone who would like to have the Dairy Princess speak at a service club meeting, consumer group, or special event is asked to contact Mrs. Gorden Weller of Weedsport or Miss Redmond.

Woman 'service brat' runs marathon

NEW YORK (AP) — How would you like to run six miles? Or what about 16—or even 26, the official distance for a race to be classified as a marathon. At the end of one of those stints, a long-distance runner says it takes up to six weeks to recover physically.
 But for some people running a marathon is a real groove. Take, for instance, Kathy Miller, a self-described "service brat," who was in town recently for the Crazylegs Marathon, a six-mile race for women only in Central Park, sponsored by S. C. Johnson & Son, and supervised by the Road Runners Club of New York.
 Although she came in sixth, Miss Miller wasn't displeased. "I'm not much good at short runs; I've got a lot of stamina, and I'm mostly concerned about just getting there. This was more like a sprint for me," the long-legged runner admitted.
 Miss Miller, a resident of Syracuse, says she started running at Lynchburg College in Virginia. "I had been playing lacrosse and field hockey on the girls' teams and was recruited by the men's track coach, who needed team members. He said, 'Gee—you won't win anything, but you can pick up some points for the team just being there.'"
 It turned out a little differently. In between being sports editor of the school paper and entering a local beauty pageant, Miss Miller became a good runner, and by the time she transferred to the University of Syracuse, she was working out with the men's cross country team.
 "I wanted to run a marathon, but the coach told me no woman in the world can run a marathon," she recounts. "Then one day I ran 28 miles, and since that was two miles over the official marathon distance, he changed his mind."

Junior Editors' Quiz on GREAT WALL OF CHINA

QUESTION: Please tell me something about the Great Wall of China.

ANSWER: The Great Wall of China was built by hand and took hundreds of years to complete. Archaeologists figure that parts of the wall were built sometime before 221 B. C. The Great Wall was expanded about 589 to 618 A. D. From 1368 to 1644, during the Ming Dynasty, work was done on the Wall. From the 17th century, it was neglected, but the Communist regime has kept it in repair and rebuilt parts of it.
 The Wall stands about 25 feet high. Towers from 35 to 40 feet high were built into the Wall at 200 or 300 foot intervals. The base of the Wall is about 25 feet wide. It tapers to about 15 feet at the top. The sides are made of earth, brick and stone. The top is paved with bricks set in lime and forms a roadway for horsemen. The Great Wall is an unusual feat of engineering because it follows a route over mountains and valleys. It is the longest line of fortification ever built, being more than 1500 miles long, going through Northern China from Lin-yu on the eastern coast to Kansu province in north central China. It was built to protect the Chinese from the invasion of nomads.

(Stephen Bukowski of Portage Pa., wins a prize for this question. You can win $10 cash plus AP's handsome World Yearbook if your question, mailed on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper, is selected for a prize.)
