People from all sections are warmly welcomed to the services.

TO MAKE COLLECTION TO CONTINUE WORK IN JAPAN

In the earthquake zone in Japan the Episcopal Church has lost all its property—churches, schools, colleges, hospitals, everything. Bishop Gallor, president of the National Council of the church, has sent to every parish in the United States, an emergency call for $500,000 to be given immediately to enable the missionaries and teachers and doctors and nurses to carry on their work.

Then in the afternoon 60 men and women will call at the homes of the members of the parish to receive the offerings the people will make to enable the church and the hospitals and schools and orphanages to continue their work among the earthquake sufferers in Japan. It is expected that the members of St. Peter's will give generously to this cause.

Among the 10 children of the late Abraham Markson, one of the founders of the Markson Brothers, to receive a share in the big estate left by the deceased, are Harry P. Markson and August Markson, sons, who are connected with the Markson Brothers' Furniture Store of this city.

The net estate left is estimated at $196,479.80 in a transfer tax appraisal approved yesterday by Surrogate Sadler of Syracuse. This figure represents the remainder after debts and expenses of $9,143.55 were deducted from a gross estate of $205,623.35.

As the deceased left no will, 10 children share in the estate, each receiving $19,647.98. The eight other heirs are Mrs. Tillie Cohen, Rochester; Mrs. Esther Franklin, Rome; Mrs. Charlotte Killman, Miss Helena Markson, N. Wesley Markson, Mrs. R. H. Besdin, Henry Markson and Mrs. Kate Liberman, all of Syracuse.

The appraisal shows the heirs sold an Auburn store in May, 1922, for $60,500.62. A Rome store was sold last October for $43,655.98. Prices received by the heirs represented inventory valuations.

A schedule of assets and liabilities of the Markson Brothers business given total assets as $21,955.34. Total liabilities are figured at $24,669.30, leaving $397,287.54 as net assets. SCOUT NOTES

Troop 11, B. S. A. which meets at the Trinity Methodist Church got away with a "flying start" last evening. There are strong indications that this troop is going to be one of the leading troops of the Auburn Council this season. There was material for three full patrols present and indications are that the troop will be recruited up to full strength, namely, four patrols, in the very near future.

At 8:30 o'clock the Scouts set down for a dinner prepared by Mrs. E. Steigerwald and Mrs. A. Vatter. Clayton C. Carr, Scout-master, presided as Master of Ceremonies, assisted by Glenn Vatter, senior patrol leader. After numerous songs, yells and stunts, the meeting became a more serious one and plans were discussed for the more serious work of the year. It was quite evident that those present mentally resolved to do among others the following things: first, to read regularly the Boy Scout magazine called Boys' Life; second, to make a sincere effort to advance themselves in the Scout program; third, to help in the development and conducting of the patrol system in the troop; fourth, to endeavor to inflict on themselves self-imposed discipline, which all agreed was the most satisfactory kind of discipline to have.

Raymond Ward won first prize in a mental alertness test.

Troop 11 was well represented in the council camp-in program this summer. The troop had some scouts at the training camp at Camp Rotary and later on conducted a Troop camp of their own.

Eagle Scout Leon Tallman represented the Troop in the Adirondack camping trip.

The Troop committee for troop 11 was composed of Pomeroy H. Livermore, Myron H. Alger, and Ernest Porter.

Orchestra Coming.

The Dave Meyerhoff Orchestra which comes to The Jefferson Theater Monday for a three day engagement, opened its vaudeville tour at Proctor's Theater in Schenectady recently and the Schenectady Gazette had the following to say about it:

"In the Dave Meyerhoff Orchestra which opened its vaudeville tour at Proctor's Theater yesterday, Schenectady is offering vaudeville a production that will take its place beside the big vaudeville acts of the country. Theatrical managers, looking day and night for material, will find an act that is not only exceptional in its merit and distinctive in its conception, but an act that offers 100 per cent. entertainment."

"The act which opened special yesterday and will headline the bill for today, tomorrow and Wednesday will find no difficulty in climbing to headline position throughout the country. In Miss Marion Brewer, soprano, who is featured in the act, Dave Meyerhoff has a find not only for the vaudeville stage but for all stages. He is apparently going out with the idea that vaudeville wants something better than the average show. And her voice is surely finer than one usually hears in vaudeville. She has a luscious warm mezzo-soprano voice that makes her rendition of Edith Day's Wildflower song and Rose of My Heart, vocal gems."

TELLS HOW 'BONE DOCTOR' PRACTICED

WIDOW OF GIERLOWSKI TESTIFIES AT INQUEST.

At the coroner's inquest, held this afternoon, at the office of the district attorney into the death of Peter Gierlowski, several witnesses were called the first being the wife of the deceased man. In her testimony the coroner Paul M. Parker, Mrs. Gierlowski made the following statement:

"My husband fell out of a tree in front of 69 Ferriss Street on or about June 30, 1923, and hurt his back. Dr. Frank A. Bennett was called and gave him treatment. He was first taken to the hospital and after about three weeks was brought home in a plaster cast where he was confined to his bed.

"He continued to grow better after coming from the hospital and began to receive friends. When asked how he was feeling he replied: 'I am coming along all right, but the doctor said that I would have to stay on bed for about 13 weeks.' Upon asking Doctor Bennett if he could sit up, the doctor told him that would take time but that he would get him fixed up with a corset if possible, so he could sit up after awhile.

"At one time a man came to the house giving the name of John Antonak of Seneca Falls and after looking at him told him that he was foolish to lie there in bed when he might as well be up and around. He told him of a man in Seneca Falls who could fix him up. I told Antonak that my husband would have to do as the doctor had told him. Antonak said: 'You see what your wife says about you, she don't care for you.' I said to Antonak, 'why do you say this?' He said: 'I know all about women; they want their husbands to die so they can get their insurance, so they can buy an automobile and take other men around just like other widows do.' I told Antonak that I didn't want that and that I would not do such a thing."

According to the testimony of Mrs. Gierlowski, she argued against sending for the man from Seneca Falls who had a reputation of being able to put bones together, claiming to have successfully set a woman's jaw in New Jersey and to have performed other feats where broken bones were concerned.

On a Tuesday shortly after he had returned home, Charles Cuzank, so-called bone doctor, came to Gierlowski's home accompanied by Joe Guzik and Stanislaus Switonski, the witness said. After examining the sick man, he proceeded to handle him quite roughly in order to effect a cure, according to the testimony of Mrs. Gierlowski. After he had examined the patient and during the time he was handling him, he said that he would guarantee a cure within two or three weeks, it was testified.

The doctor called for bandages and hot milk with which to bandage and rub him, claiming that hot milk would heal the bone and give it new life. The cast which had been applied to the man's body was removed by the "bone doctor" and he gave instructions that the cast should not be replaced and that Gierlowski should remain in the position in which he had left him, flat on his back, for three days, when he would come again to administer further treatment, the deceased's wife stated.

He returned on the following Friday and said that the bone was coming along all right. Asking for more hot milk with which to bathe the bone so it could take on more flesh, he said that the bone was very nearly healed.

Mrs. Gierlowski claimed to have paid Cuzank $7 a trip every time he came over from Seneca Falls for his expense of getting to this city and returning.

Shortly after the second visit, Mrs. Gierlowski stated that her husband complained that he was sore and swollen around his hips and that the "bone doctor" was the cause of this added trouble. This trouble started on the Saturday following his visit on Friday. Telling his wife that something had happened to him and that he was getting worse and worse, she summoned Doctor Bennett Sunday morning. He placed the patient again in the cast.

The bone man came again Sunday afternoon and asked for more hot milk stating that the bone was all right now but to keep on bathing it with hot milk. Upon seeing Gierlowski lying on the cast again he asked: 'Why are you lying on that devil of a thing,' the witness testified. Gierlowski told him that Dr. Bennett had ordered him to do so at that he was going to follow his instructions.

Other witnesses called in the case gave testimony along these same lines. The inquest lasted throughout the whole afternoon each witness being thoroughly examined.
