

TRIAL OF 'BONE DOCTOR' IS OPENED

Trial of Charles Cysank, the so-called Seneca County "bone doctor," on an indictment charging manslaughter in the first degree and second degree was started before Judge Edgar S. Mosher in County Court this morning.

The attorneys for both sides exhausted the panel of jurors before noon with only eight seated. A special panel of 25 jurors was drawn by Judge Mosher, County Clerk Harry D. Bonham and Sheriff Fay Teeter to report in court this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

This morning Judge Mosher overruled the demurrer interposed by Attorney Albert H. Clark for the defendant on the ground that the indictment was faulty, charged more than one crime and the facts stated did not constitute a crime.

Then Cysank was arraigned and entered a plea of not guilty. The indictment charges that from August 14 to 17 Cysank unlawfully practiced medicine without a permit affecting the person of one Peter Gierowalski of Auburn. That he did manipulate, wrench, twist, bend and strike the body of Gierowalski, inflicting grievous bodily injuries from which Gierowalski died September 13.

Gierowalski at the time was suffering from a broken back received in a fall from a cherry tree at his home in Pulifer Street and for which he had been receiving treatment at the City Hospital and by local physicians.

Stanley Osborne of Clyde was acquitted on charge of running away from the scene of automobile accident on the Clark Street state road on July 4 last by a jury in County Court last night. The jury took but a few minutes in arriving at their verdict of acquittal.

Osborne maintained that he did everything possible to avoid collision and reported the accident to the local authorities afterward. He was ably defended by Attorney G. V. Fleckenstein of Clyde.

WOMEN GUESTS AT CHURCH BANQUET

First M. E. Men's Forum Proves Admirable Host At Pleasing Function.

The men's forum of the First Methodist Church was host to the women members of the church at a banquet and entertainment last night. About 350 people were present at the festivities which proved one of the finest affairs ever held at that church. That the members of the men's forum are capable entertainers was never doubted by those who attended as guests at this reception. The evening program was under way at 8:30 o'clock, a sumptuous supper being served on this "ladies' night" by members of the men's forum themselves.

Following the fine supper in the assembly room, J. O. Whitcomb of Syracuse, who was recently heard by members of the Auburn Kiwanis Club at one of its noon luncheons, gave a pleasing talk before the large audience. Rev. Dr. DeWitt B. Thompson, pastor of the First Methodist, also made a few remarks in his usual fine manner.

Dr. E. E. Harrington acted as toastmaster and served his part in his regular peppy style. James G. Avery was the song leader on this occasion and led the chorus singing which was exceptionally fine.

Several pleasing numbers were also given by the men's glee club of the church. This was the first appearance of that organization this season and delighted the listeners with their songs and chorus selections. This men's glee club is being coached by Miss Alice M. Jones, well known musician of this city.

Albert J. Cooke rendered some very fine vocal solos during the evening's program. Mr. Cooke is baritone soloist at the First Presbyterian Church of Auburn.

During the course of the splendidly arranged program, some novel stunts of a humorous nature were performed to the amusement of all who attended.

DECORATIONS TO BE FEATURE OF BIG ELKS' BALL

Music, Check Rooms, Boxes, Reception and Other Details Well Cared For.

Preliminary plans for the decorating of the big drill hall of the State Armory for the second annual ball of Auburn Lodge of Elks to be staged next week from tonight, Thanksgiving Eve, have been completed by Decorator Thomas J. Walsh. The actual work of transforming the scene of the function into a Japanese wonderland will be started tomorrow, a little earlier than former seasons as it is the aim of General Chairman Charles A. Parker and his Executive Committee to have everything in tip top shape as soon as possible so as to avoid the customary cursing about at the last moment.

According to Decorator Walsh, the adornments for the 1923 affair will be more pretentious and on a more elaborate scale than for any function of this kind ever held in Auburn. He promises that everything will be new and that the decorating and lighting scheme of the vast ceiling and four grim walls of the spacious drill hall will be hidden by a handsome canopy of purple and white. Elk colors. In addition tapestries of rich coloring will be draped gracefully along all the walls. A large allotment of Japanese foxtails arrived today and these will be suspended in various groupings from the canopied ceiling. As they sway back and forth under the multi-colored lights, the effect will be charming. Added to these will be flowery effects in pyramid formation and to enhance all will be hundreds of varicolored incandescents.

Some Fine Boxes.

Along the north and south walls will be erected the boxes to be decorated and richly furnished by Auburn Lodge of Elks and turned over to the use of the various fraternal, social and civic organizations of the city. In the northeast and southeast sectors will be placed the refreshment booths with Willard A. Smith and staff in charge. The bandstand this year will be located in the western end of the hall because of a change in the location of the fire escape. This change it is figured by Decorator Walsh and the committee will add to the scene of beauty as the pleasure seekers will get a fine view of the artistically adorned platform on entering the dance hall. A space for the accommodation of the large number of spectators will be reserved at the eastern end of the hall.

The committee plans to leave no stone unturned in looking after the comforts of the guests of the evening and for this purpose a large committee has been selected with Eben Kenyon as chairman. Special care will be exercised in both the ladies and gentlemen's check rooms. Special arrangements have also been made for taking care of the appetites of the guests as a special hall menu has been arranged for at the Osborne Hotel and the Sun Tea Room. These menus will be served at a modest price from intermission until 1 o'clock under the personal direction of Lynn G. Swift of the Osborne and Ellis Meaker of the Sun. It was decided to install the canopied walkway in front of the armory so as to protect the arrivals on leaving their cars and cabs.

Demon Is Coming.

Word was received today by General Chairman Parker from Damon that he and his Rochester musicians were all set for the big affair and ready to do all in their power to make the music, the evening's biggest asset. Damon will personally direct the orchestra in the rendition of the latest in fox trots and waltzes. Monday next, a gang of men will be started at work in dressing the floor and putting in the best of condition for the daintiest of terpsichorean performers.

To swell the assemblage, delegations will come from Syracuse, Rochester, Geneva, Oswego, Cortland, Seneca Falls, Waterloo and other places and hospitality will be extended to these by a large and capable committee under the supervision of Exalted Ruler George A. Daley. In fact everybody will be made to feel at home for hospitality is a byword at all Elks' functions. That the armory will be packed for the occasion is to be gleaned from a report of the Committee on Tickets of which Howard J. Lindsey is chairman and from reports on sales of gowns and suits by the various local business houses.

Graduates Entertains.

The pupils in the Madame Hudson School of Beauty Culture entertained Hudson graduates from previous classes, in the school rooms over Smith & Pearson's, on Monday evening. Many owners of shops were present from various towns. A talk on Beauty by Madame Hudson and a demonstration of the new methods for preserving beauty were greatly enjoyed by all. Refreshments were served by the laboratory employees. It was requested that this event be repeated annually for the benefit of all Hudson graduates.

Addresses Patrol Leaders.

The weekly meeting of the patrol leaders of the district was held yesterday in the gymnasium of the Women's Union. After practice in squad drill and signalling the scouts had the pleasure and advantage of a visit from Mrs. James Marshall who very kindly came to help the girls with a section of the work for the coming inter-troup competition. She gave the leaders many points, that will be of great help to them in dealing with their patrols.

COUNTY GRANTS TO THE BLIND ARE EXPLAINED

Miss Mary J. Johnson of the state commission for the blind was given the privilege of the floor at the opening of today's session of the Board of Supervisors to explain the provisions of the law relative to appropriations by the county for the care of the blind.

Miss Johnson stated that records showed that there are 33 blind people in Cayuga County, of whom four have made application to the state commission for relief. She asked an appropriation of $1,200 for the care of the blind, and explained that the disbursements of the appropriation are made by the supervisors. That the commission would give any information or advice at any time to the supervisors free of charge.

Clark Taber read a communication from former County Attorney Frank S. Coburn enclosing pleading and papers in the litigation brought by the National Bank of Auburn and the National Bank for a refund of bank taxes levied and collected for the past two years. The papers were turned over to Frederick B. Willis for examination and report.

Clark Taber read a communication from John P. Jaekel, city manager of Auburn, showing the assessed valuation of Auburn properly as follows: Veterans, $127,747; land and buildings, $25,333,538; public service corporations, $957,805; special franchises, $355,750; total, $27,334,840. Also National bank valuations as follows: Second Ward, National Bank of Auburn, 2,000 shares at $171.84, $343,684; Third Ward, 2,000 shares at $249.535, $499,069.97. SECOND CONCERT GIVEN TONIGHT

Music lovers from surrounding towns as well as a host from Auburn will be in attendance tonight at the second concert of the season of the Auburn Musicales to be given at 8:20 o'clock at the Auditorium. Seat reservations from residents outside the city indicate that the unusually high quality of musical benefits offered the public by the club is being appreciated outside the boundaries of the city.

The artists who appear tonight are George Miquelle, a French cellist of international note, and George Houston, baritone and head of the Eastman School of Music, whose interpretations are said to thrill all tastes because of the dramatic delivery.

Today a last minute crowd came to the theater box office to take out memberships in the club for the series of 10 and enjoy the reduced rates for the concert to members. However, club officials today emphasized the point that tonight's concert and all in future are open to the public, whether members of the club or not. Club membership simply means that tickets to the series are secured more cheaply than when they are purchased individually.

Word this afternoon from the theater box office indicates that there will be a brilliant assemblage present tonight, although there are still good seats left at all prices.

SCOUTS GIVE EDUCATION WEEK ENTERTAINMENT HERE

The clever playlet A Straggling Afternoon, put on by Boy Scout Troop 13 of this city at the W. Mynderse Rice Post, American Legion rooms last night was largely attended. The people of this city have taken a keen interest in the exhibits which are open for public inspection in these rooms.

Yesterday was known as Patriotism Day in the program laid out for this week throughout the nation in observing National Education Week. The play staged last evening was thoroughly enjoyed by the many spectators who gathered in the Legion rooms to attend the many worth while exhibits from public schools on display there.

Those who have planned to attend this evening's program have a treat in store for them. The Auburn Theological Seminary quartet has been secured to furnish the evening entertainment. Several vocal solos will be rendered by members of this fine organization as well as the usual quartet numbers.

A glee club from the High School here has been engaged to entertain the visitors to the Legion rooms exhibits tomorrow night.

Commander Louis J. McCarthy of the W. Mynderse Rice Post, American Legion here hopes that the people of Auburn and surrounding localities will keep up the interest which was displayed at last evening's entertainment and continue to attend the exhibits and entertainments which will take place in the Legion rooms for the remainder of the week.

The Public Is Cordially Invited

To the Friends of the American Red Cross in Auburn:

Inasmuch as the American Red Cross is a membership organization that is and always has been strongly before the public, both the directors of the Community Chest and the executive committee of the Red Cross feel that the public is deprived of a real privilege when the annual membership roll call of the Red Cross is omitted, and it has been mutually decided that the Red Cross should go on with this annual function to which the public is now in the habit of looking forward both in the city and county.

Therefore with this thought in mind and not unmindful of the many useful and necessary activities which have been successfully carried on by our Cayuga County Chapter this past season we call your attention to this annual roll call which will be in progress in this county and throughout the county till the first of December.

It would seem almost unnecessary to point out many of our useful functions but briefly we would point to the care we have devoted to the ex-service men, preventive health work, emergency relief work both at home and abroad, the good work accomplished by the Nutrition Worker in the schools and the splendid results now just beginning to appear as a result of the Public Health Nurse, all of which are the results of our organization work.

The year 1923-24 demands a continuance of this same type of work and we need your support. This we would ask both in Membership and Interest A HEART AND A DOLLAR MAKE YOU A MEMBER FOR A YEAR.

Yours sincerely,
(Signed) ANNETTE TILDEN,
Chairman Seventh Roll Call.
