THE DEED IS DONE.

JAMES C. STOUT BECOMES WARDEN OF AUBURN PRISON.

The Change Made Quickly Monday Morning—There was no Parade and no Ceremony.

The long looked for change in wardens at the prison was consummated Monday morning. The formal turning over of the keys and authority between retiring Warden Durston and incoming Warden James C. Stout took place. It was simply a formality as the oath of office had been administered and the commission received by the new warden, James C. Stout, in the state comptroller's office some weeks ago. This morning it was simply Mr. Stout's pleasure to walk in and take charge. He did it with a great deal of courtesy.

MURDERER FITZTHUM.

See. Fleece Aided to Commute His Sentence—His Domestic Family Still Here.

Mrs. Fitzthum, the wife of John Fitzthum, the Buffalo murderer who is under sentence of death during the week of May 6th, who came here the other day with her three children to see her husband for the last time, is still in the city and is stopping at Mantel's hotel in Water street.

TWO PRESENTATIONS.

Warden Durston Fitly Remembered by His Subordinates.

The prison bell had scarcely ceased awaying under Copper John Saturday evening, dismissing the officers for the night, when the principal officers gathered in the front hall. One of the officers was dispatched to the warden's office to summon him to the hall, where the officers awaited his coming.

ALL THINGS MOVING SMOOTHLY.

Warden Stout's Second Day in the Prison. An Appointment.

Everything was going on orderly and without friction at the prison Tuesday. Warden Stout started on his second day most auspiciously. The convicts were at work Tuesday and the clearing up after the fire continues.

DEATH OF GEORGE W. LONGSTREET.

George W. Longstreet father of George E. Longstreet, cashier of the National Bank of Auburn, died at his home in Shortsville Saturday aged 79 years.

BIRTHS.

CURTIS—To Rev. and Mrs. J. P. Curtis, Junction City, Kas., April 22, 1903, a daughter.

DEATHS.

GRAFF—In Auburn, suddenly, May 1, 1903, Christian Graff, in the 10th year of his age.

say to you, gentlemen, as officers, that in going about the country visiting prisons, I have never seen one that has been kept up in better shape. The man appearing better than at Auburn. Mr. Horner, whom I see standing in the doorway, has had occasion, I know, to visit a great many prisons in the country, and he remarked to-day, in coming up through the yard, who different air there was about the Auburn prison, than in any other prison that he had ever seen. Now, in going away from here, I want to say to you, fellow officials, I hope you will keep up the reputation of Auburn prison, and continue to be zealous and maintain the discipline and do every thing you can to keep up the standard which the Auburn prison has attained. And in going to Sing Sing I wish to say that I shall have a deep interest in the success of the Auburn prison, and in going out of it I think every one of you will bear me out in saying that I want to go away leaving it in the best of shape. I think you kindly for this and I will say that I shall always remember with pride the time I have spent in Auburn prison, and as I go on through life these tokens that you have given me will be highly treasured and appreciated by me wherever I may be. I thank you, gentlemen, for your good wishes towards me.

HIS WIFE WAS THE BURGLAR.

Accomplice of the Burglar in a Missing Suit of Clothes.

Randolph Murray played the part of the villain in the sensational melodrama the Police Patrol at the Opera Monday night and portrayed the character of a burglar. When he dressed for the part, he left his ordinary clothing in his dressing room and went on the stage to show the audience how a burglar does his business in the most approved style. He seemed to know how and when he went to the dressing room after he did his turn in the first act he realized that he was not the only one who knew the business. His clothing and effects, which he valued at $75, were missing. Burglary was in his mind and he at once concluded that the room had been burglarized. He made haste to inform Manager Newton and the police were quickly informed that the clothes were missing. The police commenced an investigation and for a few minutes there was considerable excitement. The disappearance was surprising and everyone was mystified.

A RUNAWAY AT THE LAKE.

A lively horse drawn by Frank Mohan ran away near the Beach house Sunday afternoon. It collided with a buggy occupied by George Lower and a companion. Mohan was thrown out of his buggy and the wheels of Lower's carriage were broken.

A BRAKEMAN'S ACCIDENT.

John Ryan, a brakeman on the freight train which leaves this city at 8:30 a. m. for Rochester, met with a painful accident Tuesday morning. While making couplings at the Chapel street crossing he had the index finger of his left hand so badly smashed between the bumpers that it had to be amputated. Dr. John Gerin dressed the wound. Ryan's home is in Wedesport. He has worked on railroads as a brakeman for the past fifteen years and Tuesday's accident was his first.

MUSICIANS ORGANIZED.

The organization of a musical union was perfected Sunday afternoon at a meeting in Union hall. The following officers have been elected: President, John J. White.

THE LARUE CASE.

The Jury Out Over Twenty-four Hours and No Verdict Yet.

CORNING, N. Y., May 2.—The jury in Larue conspiracy case has been out for twenty-four hours and cannot agree. At 1 o'clock Judge Smith, who took Judge Burney's place, sent them back and told them they would keep them until they agreed upon a verdict, if it took another day.

FITZSIMMONS STAYS IN PRISON.

BOSTON, May 2.—Bob Fitzsimmons arrived in town yesterday and when told that Aleck Greggains was anxious to make a match with him he called at the Globe office where he was met by Joe Lewis who represented Greggains. Fitzsimmons proposed a match for $5,000 a side and the largest purse.
