Auburn Shrine Club Has Ladies' Night

Leading figures at the dinner meeting of Auburn and Rochester Shriners and their ladies Monday evening in Osborne Hotel were (seated) Mrs. Gordon White of Rochester and Mrs. George R. Clarke of Auburn. Standing, Walter K. Wildes, toastmaster; Gordon H. White of Rochester, potentate of Damascus Temple; Gordon R. Clarke, president of Auburn Shrine Club. (C-A Photo.)

Gaiety prevailed at the Ladies' Night of Auburn Shrine Club held Monday evening at the Osborne Hotel, with some 200 Shriners and their guests enjoying a turkey dinner, music and floor show. Feminine guests were presented with orchids, compliments of George R. Clarke, club president. Tables set in the ball room of the hotel were prettily decorated with flowers from the Clarke greenhouse and with lighted candles.

President Clarke welcomed the nobles and feminine guests. Walter K. Wildes, toastmaster, introduced visiting Shrine dignitaries and their ladies.

Included were Potentate Fred Mylchrest, Past Potentates Harold Greenleaf, and Lloyd White and Chief Rabban Frank Viel of Tigris Temple, Syracuse; Potentate Gordon White, Recorder John Cummings, Chief Rabban Carl Lundgren, Assistant Rabban Frank Beelos, Ceremonial Master James Corbett, Oriental Guide Raymond Cross, and Past Potentates Dr. Ward Ekas and Culver Barr, of Damascus Shrine, Rochester. Most of the visiting Shrine officials were accompanied by their wives.

During the dinner, an orchestra with Louis S. McCarthy at the piano played a variety of musical numbers.

A floor show by professionals from Rochester closed the evening. Among the acts, all of which were repeatedly encored, were "blues" singers, magicians, dancers, and roller skating team.

FFA to Sponsor Farm Exhibition

Carl Stevens, agriculture teacher at the Port Byron Central School, has announced that the annual Future Farmers of America Fair and exhibition of poultry, dairy garden and field crops, together with shop exhibits, will be held this year in the school's bus garage on Friday afternoon, Sept. 19.

The affair is sponsored by the local FFA Chapter. It will be open from noon during the afternoon and evening hours. All pupils attending Port Byron School are eligible to enter exhibits, and cash prizes will be awarded.

Farm machinery dealers will have their usual exhibition of farm machinery and tools.

This year marks the sixth anniversary of the fair.

Richard Snyder has been named chairman of the general planning committee, assisted by Fred Stoneburg, Ronald Somerville and Clayton Marsh. Chairman and committee members of the various divisions of the fair will be appointed this week. Judges tentatively appointed for various classes of exhibits include: Willard Lashbrook of the Beacon Milling Company, dairy; Robert Miller, poultry; and small animal specialist at the Beacon Milling Company research farm; poultry; Richard Chauncey, agriculture teacher at Cato-Meridian Central School, shop exhibits.

Purpose of the annual event is to encourage more boys and girls to acquire projects and develop pride in the work they are doing.
